GREEK SITUATION HAS GROWN WORSE WITHIN 24 HOURS

Zaimis Has Declined Request of King Constantine to Retain Premiership.

MINISTERS IN SESSION

Serbian Army in the North Being Slowly But Surely Crushed by Teutons

London, Nov. 5.—Another twenty-four hours have complicated rather than clarified the situation in Greece, the attitude of whose king is causing the Allies much concern. King Constantine today urged M. Zaimis to retain the premiership. M. Zaimis declined to acquiesce, however, according to Athens, whereupon the king called a council of ministers, the deliberations of which may or may not determine whether Greece is to align herself against Bulgaria or persist in her attitude of benevolent neutrality, which means that though the allied troops may cross her soil her armies will not aid them in driving the Bulgarians from Serbia.

Meanwhile the Serbian northern army is being slowly but surely ground down before the combined pressure of the Austro-German and Bulgarian forces. The fate of Nish hangs by a hair and it is only at the southern end of the battle front that the Bulgars are meeting with any reverses. There, according to reports, the British are co-operating with the French, but, as heretofore, these reports are unofficial and fragmentary and it cannot be said authoritatively whether the British are in touch with their new enemy.

If the Bulgar-Teuton tide is turned, the best opinion here is that it will be some weeks hence. But giving the Allies a month's time, it is argued they can throw three hunred thousand, perhaps five hundred thousand, men into Serbia, not including Russians, and with such a force not only dispute the advance of the Central Powers but contest Bulgaria's ocupation of Serbian Macedonia.

The Germans maintain the defensive in the east and west. In neither theatre, however, are any large battles taking place.

The Turks continue sporadically active in the Dardanelles region, tonight's British official communication from the Gallpoli peninsula reports. This report says the Turks have launched attacks against the British right.

OVER 300 BRITISH LOST

Official Statement on Sinking of British Transport Ramazan

London, Nov. 5. — Official announcement by the war office tonight of the sinking of the British transport Ramazan by a hostile submarine in the Aegean sea in the latter part of September, previously reported, shows that more than 300 men were lost when the transport went down. The official statement says:

"The war office announce that the British transport Ramazan was sunk by an enemy submarine by shell fire at 6 a. m., on September 19, off the island of Antikythria in the Aegean sea. There were about 300 Indian troops on board, of whom 75 were saved. Twenty-eight of the crew also were saved. A number of boats were smashed by shall fire.

"The survivors reached Antikythria in their own boats the same night and were kindly and hospitably treated by the inhabitants."

PRESIDENT'S AUTOMOBILE KNOCKS BOY DOWN—UNHURT

Mr. Wilson Stopped Car Until Assured Lad Was Not Injured.

New York, Nov. 5.—President Wilson's automobile struck and slightly injured a small boy here late today while the President was on his way to the train. The boy apparently was more frightened than hurt. After stopping his car and ascertaining that the accident was trivial, the President continued to the station.

The accident occurred as the President's car turned a corner in front of the Pennsylvania station. Mario Passi, the boy, darted from the sidewalk across the street directly in the path of the automobile. The youngster escaped the wheels but a mudguard brushed against his left arm and knocked him down.

FOUR AMERICANS NOT KILLED

Were Held Prisoners by Villa at Cananea—Released.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 5.—General Villa has ordered the release of Drs. Thigpen and Miller and the two American chauffeurs whom he reported dead yesterday, says a message received this afternoon. The men were prisoners at Cananea. The doctor, however, will remain in Cananea to care for the wounded. Villa said he was mistaken when he reported the four killed.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Protests were sent to Great Britain today by the State Department against the action of British authorities in interfering with shipments of American packing house products on the Norwegian-American Line steamer Kristianiafjord, due to sail from New York November 6 for Christiana.

GARRISON OUTLINES MILITARY PROGRAM

Plan to Raise Great Continental or Citizen Army.

SUPPLEMENT REGULARS

Would Increase Regular Army by More Than 30,000 and Organize Citizen Army of 400,000—Specialists Consulted.

Washington, Nov. 5.—An outline of the army's part in the national defense program to be submitted to Congress in December by the Administration was made public tonight by Secretary Garrison disclosing officially for the first time details of the plan to raise a great Continental or Citizen army to supplement the regular establishment.

In brief, it is proposed to increase the regular army from 108,008 to 141,843 officers and men (changing the term of enlistment from four years with the colors and three years on furlough to two years with the colors and four years on furlough); to organize a Federal citizen army of 400,000 (to be enlisted 133,000 a year for three years); to strengthen the state militia by increased appropriations and closer co-operation; and to spend $20,000,000 a year for four years on coast defenses and $26,000,000 a year for four years in the accumulation of reserve material for use by a force of 500,000 men.

Mr. Garrison says that the framers of the new policy are fully conscious of the possibility of formulating military policies much better in theory, but that "after concentrated consideration of existing legal and other conditions they think it will be found that almost insuperable objections and difficulties arise in carrying into practical operation suggestions that from the military standpoint might otherwise be very acceptable.

The statement reveals that in the preparation of their plans, War Department officials have called into consultation specialists in various lines of private industry.

"It has been proposed," it says, "to make available in time of need the services of those in certain kinds of employment requiring special knowledge and skill, such as railroad men, bridge builders, engineers of all descriptions, etc., and leading men in these lines and professions have been collaborating with the War Department in an endeavor to formulate, by legislation or administrative action, an acceptable and useful plan with respect thereto.

"In this connection, and because of the patriotic spirit thus displayed it seems desirable to say that if those who are the employers of the young men of the country cannot by reason of age or situation in life, give their personal service, they can do that which will be equally useful by encouraging in every way the participation of those in their employ in the plan of national defense. If they would so arrange their business that a certain proportion of those whom they engage could undertake this national service without sacrificing their personal interests, those who did this thing would be acting in the most public spirited and patriotic manner possible."

The citizen army would be recruited

GAVE LEGISLATORS A DINNER FOR SERVICES

In Behalf of Legislation Favoring the New Haven

More Letters, Written by Former President Hall, Figured Yesterday in Trial of Eleven Railroad Directors.

New York, Nov. 5.—"A little dinner" given by John M. Hall, former president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, to the railroad committee of the lower house of the Connecticut Legislature, figured in the testimony introduced by the government today at the trial of the eleven former directors of the New Haven road charged with violation of the Sherman Anti-trust law. The dinner was given, according to a letter written by Hall as the culmination of political activities in behalf of the New Haven which resulted in the failure of a Connecticut trolley company to obtain a charter to build a line paralleling the New Haven. It was the Montville line from Groton to Norwich, Conn.

"I went over to the capital," Hall wrote, on June 9, 1897, to E. C. Robinson, a New Haven director, "and found the railroad committee had resurrected the Montville charter and got it into the Senate. As I was all alone I had to fly around among the Senators and get them to re-bury. At the little dinner we gave the committee afterward at the Hartford club they seemed well satisfied. In view of the fact that some of them will be back again two years hence, I thought it well to show them this little attention.

This and other leters written by Hall to obtain legislation to defeat the charter were put in by government according to R. L. Batts, of its counsel, to show the "illegitimate means" employed by the New Haven to thwart competition.

GIVES FIRST ORDER OVER RADIO 'PHONE

Daniels Talks to Commandant at New York Navy Yard

IS GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

The Secretary Sent the Order From His Desk in the Navy Department by Way of Arlington—Others Also Converse.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Secretary Daniels today transmitted the first naval order ever sent by wireless telephone. It was to Rear Admiral Usher at the New York navy yard. From his desk in the Navy Department the Secretary talked to the commandant of the New York yard by way of the big government radio towers at Arlington and ordered a report on repairs to the dreadnought New York. Navy officials say the achievement brings closer the days when a secretary of the navy may sit at his desk here and talk to the fleet commanders all over the world.

Secretary Daniels transmitted this verbal order which was taken down by a stenographer in Admiral's Usher's office and acknowledged verbally by the admiral himself:

"Rear Admiral Usher, Commandant, New York Navy Yard.

"Report as soon as practicable after the arrival of the New York how soon the repairs recommended can be completed.

"Daniels."

Other Stations Hear Order.

Navy wireless stations in all parts of the country were eavesdropping to catch the conversation. While Secretary Daniels was still talking with Admiral Usher the Charleston, S. C., station telegraphed that the order had been overheard and copied there.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt followed Secretary Daniels at the radio telephone and later Mrs. Daniels was accorded the distinction of being the first woman to converse by wireless waves.

The Secretary's office was crowded with naval officers and bureau officials during the demonstration, which lasted half an hour. Many of them conversed with Admiral Usher. Later Secretary Daniels and Secretary Lansing, of the State Department went to the radio room and listened in."

Admiral said the voices from Washington were plainly audible in his office despite a heavy static discharge which sounded, he said, like stage thunder.

Used Ordinary Desk Instrument.

The department used was the regular desk telephone on Mr. Daniels desk. It carried the sound to the great Arlington, Va., radio station where the transfer was made automatically by delicate mechanisms, and the voices of the speakers thrown out into the air to be audible thousands of miles away to any radio operator whose set happened to be tuned to the right pitch. In effect the conversations followed at loop, going first by telephone wire to Arlington, by radio to the towers of the navy yard station in New York, by wire to the instrument on Admiral Usher's desk and the rejoinders directly by wire from New York to Washington.

To all appearances it was an ordinary, long distance telephone conversation. No effort was made to subdue the hum of voices in Secretary Dan-

GIVES APPROVAL FOR AERIAL COAST PATROL

President Interested in the New Undertaking

Movement Started in Portland, Me., by Private Individuals — Suggested as Essential For National Defense.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Approval was given by President Wilson tonight to a movement started in Portland, Me., for the inauguration of a system of aerial coast patrols along the coast line of the United States. The movement has been started by private individuals who propose to place their service at the disposal of the Federal government in time of war.

The President was informed by the Portland chamber of commerce that it had appointed a committee representing the cities of Portland, Bangor, Waterville, Augusta, Brunswick, Bath, and Lewiston to raise $10,000 to purchase a hydro-aeroplane and the equipment of aerial coast patrol to cover the coast from Portsmouth to the mouth of Penobscot river. It was suggested that such a patrol was essential for National defense, and that the step taken in Maine might encourage similar action by other states and protect the entire coast line.

The President sent the following telegram to the president of the Portland chamber:

"I join with the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy in feeling a very great interest in the department of aeroplane service in this country and aid hoping that your citizens will meet with entire success in their interesting undertaking."

PLOT TO RESTORE HUERTA TO POWER STORY OF MEXICAN

Prisoner Confesses to Alleged Plans to Invade Mexico From United States

1,200 MAY BE ARRESTED

Agents Were Said to Have Been Working For Uprising in Six States

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 5. — Jose Orozco, who is prisoner at El Paso, has made a confession of an alleged plot to restore Victoriano Huerta to power in Mexico, according to information given out tonight at the office of United States District Attorney J. L. Camp, in San Antonio. It is understood that warrants will be issued for the arest of at least 1,200 men said to be implicated in the plot.

Orozco, it is alleged, detailed the story of alleged plans for an uprising with ramifications in half a dozen states and for which agents in New York, New Orleans, Galveston and San Antonio were working. Huerta was in New York while the plans for the invasion of Mexico from the United States were being arranged, according to the information from the district attorney's office, but left for the West when everything was ready for launching the scheme to seize Juarez and make it the provisional capital of Mexico. Then came the arrest of the former dictator in El Paso.

According to the statement this did not prevent Pasqual Orozco from attempting to carry out the original plans. Orozco crossed into Mexico, forfeiting his bond given in the United States and joined Jose Orozco in an atttempt to get men and arms across the border into Mexico at a point east of Juarez, the alleged confession says. Jose was arrested in Texas while trying to take these arms across and Pasqual was killed several weeks later in west Texas, while he was endeavoring to re-cross into Mexico to head a large body of troops collected and waiting a commander.

The following extract is taken from the alleged confession which was not made public in full:

Part of Alleged Confession.

"There were $11,000,000 behind the Huerta movement, and the former clerical party in Mexico was backing it. Pasqual Orozco, Jose Orozco, Isabelle Gomez Rollo, former secretary to Orozco, now living in San Antonio, and Gen. Jose Ynez Salazar, in prison now in New Mexico, were to have been the Huerta generals who were to launch the revolt. As soon as they captured Juarez, Huerta was to have pronounced it his provisional capital. Six thousand rifles had been ordered for the revolt, also 60 machine guns."

According to the district attorney's office, Orozco decided to make a clena breast of his knowledge of the alleged plot when certain friends in whom he trusted and gave money to have his bond furnished, proved false. The sworn statement was said to have been made to Assistant United States District Attorney R. E. Crawford.

VILLA'S REQUEST DENIED.

Not Allowed to Move His Wounded Across American Territory.

Washington, Nov. 5.—General Villa's request for permission to move his wounded from Naco to Juarez over American territory, was denied today by the State Department. Such a privilege, it was held, cannot be granted to forces in arms against the de facto government of Mexico recognized by the United States.

TO DECIDE WHETHER RAILROAD IS LIABLE FOR INSTANT DEATH

Tennessee Case Presented to Supreme Court for Decision.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Whether the personal representative of a railroad employee killed while engaged in interstate commerce may recover from a railroad for the "injury to the decedent" in cases of "instantaneous" death of the employes was presented to the Supreme Court today for decision.

The case in which the point was argued was that of W. N. Showalter, administrator, of Robert K. Shewalter against the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio railway. Robert K. Shewalter, a fireman on that road, was killed outright when his locomotive hit a boulder which had rolled down the mountain side across the track. Judgment for $15,000,000 was rendered but later $15,000 was rendered but later reduced to $10,000.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee held that no recovery could be held for injury to the deceased when his death had been instantaneous. No claim for pecuniary loss to survivors was averred in the suit. Attorneys for the estate, however, claim that the doctrine applied by the Tennessee court is a relic of the barbarism of the common law, abolished by the 1910 amendment to the Federal employers liability law.

STEAMER REACHES HALIFAX

British Steamer Rio Lages Caught Fire While at Sea.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 5.—The British steamer Rio Lages reported on fire at sea, arrived here tonight. The fire in No. 2 hold was burning briskly. The Rio Lages left New York October 31 for Queenstown with a cargo of sugar.

HOW THEY GO TO WAR IN GERMANY

They are still going to war in Germany with high hopes according to all recent testimony, as this photograph of a young man and the girl he expects to return to wed shows. But no one knows how long it will last. Recently an order that newspapers should not discuss the question of peace was issued. The British said this order was evidence that millions of Germans are talking peace, else why should it have been necessary to issue such an order.

$500,000 EXPENDED IN ALLEGED PLOTS

In Effort to Prevent Munitions Being Shipped Allies

ONE OFFICIAL ASSERTS

Robert Fay's Story Considered Unreliable, Say Federal Authorities —Is Believed to Be Hungarian Named Feji.

New York, Nov. 5.—At least $500,000 has been expended in carrying out alleged German plots in this country is an effort to prevent war munitions from reaching the Allies, according to a statement today by one of the officials investigating the cases of Robert Fay, who claimed to be a German army lieutenant, and five alleged accomplices.

Federal authorities admitted today that they considered unreliable the lengthy story which Fay readily told concerning his life history and activities in connection with the plots against steamships carrying munitions from this country to the Allies. Fay it was said, is now believed to be a Hungarian whose read name is Feji. Federal agents are now trying to trace the source of the large amount of money said to have been spent by different men in carrying out or attempting to carry out the various bomb plots.

Fay and Scholz, his brother-in-law were closely scrutinized today by a sergeant of marines from the Brooklyn navy yard. He was on duty, it was said, when an infernal machine was attached to the rudder post of the battleship Texas, some time ago.

The story that an infernal machine was affixed to the battleship was at the time officially denied. But the presence of the marine at the court house today revived the report.

The sergeant of marines brought with him a small square box which, it was said, was the machine alleged to have been fastened to the Texas.

RETURN TO WASHINGTON

Presidential Party Leave New York on Special Train.

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson, and his fiancee, Mrs. Norman Galt, and members of their party, returned to Washington from New York shortly after 8 o'clock tonight on a special train. On the return trip Mr. Wilson showed concern over Mario Passi, the small Italian boy who narrowly escaped being run over by the President's automobile in New York. Arrangements were made at the White House for inquiring about his condition tomorrow.

The President's two-day visit to New York is expected by administration leaders to have an important bearing on the 1916 campaign. At numerous informal conference with Democratic leaders the outcome of last Tuesday's elections and the prospects for 1915 were discussed. While no plans were revealed the leaders professed to feel much encouraged by the outlook. Many of them will come together here when the National committee meets in December.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN LEAVES FOR KIOTO

He Will There Formally Accede to the Throne

THRONGS PAY HOMAGE

Tokio in Joyous Fete Unexampled in Fifty Years' History—Hundreds of Thousands from the Provinces are There.

Tokio, Nov. 5.—Yoshihito, Emperor of Japan, and 122nd head of the Japanese imperial house after the first emperor, Jimmu, whose reign began 2575 years ago, left Tokio today for Kioto to make his state entry into the capital of his forefathers and there formally accede to the throne of the Empire of the Rising Sun. The monarch was to have been accompanied by Empress Sadako, but the nearness of the period when Her Majesty is expected to give birth to another heir prevented her from participating in the ceremonies.

As the emperor emerged from the palace he was greeted by two hundred thousand school children who paid silent homage to the ruler. There was no cheering, the authorities bearing in mind the accident which happened to King George recently on the western war front, when his horse was frightened by the soldiers and threw him, causing painful injuries. Soldiers and blue jackets were drawn up in the streets ten lines deep. Americans and other foreigners viewed the procession from a reserved section, waiting two hours before the emperor appeared.

The whole city of Tokio is in joyous fete unexampled in Japanese history since the triumphant entry of Emperor Mutsuhito nearly fifty years ago. Hundreds of thousands of people are here from the provinces, most of them to remain until the great celebration in Tokio at the end of the month when the Emperor returns from Kioto. From the noble to the ricksha man the dominating note is joy and gladness.

At the appointed time in the early morning the hall wherein is enshrined the imperial sanctuary was decorated by court ritualists in a manner appropriate to the occasion. This being finished, His Imperial Highness Prince Higashi Fushimi, chief commissioner, and other members of the coronation board, all in ceremonious Japanese dress, took their seats.

The doors of the sanctuary were opened amid Shinto music, and after offerings were made before the altar Prince Iwakura, the chief ritualist, read a religious address or prayer announcing to the spirit-soul of the imperial grand ancestress, Amaterasu Omikami, the commencement of the auspicious coronation ceremonial and the transfer of the imperial sanctuary and the court to Kioto for the celebration of the same. Then a chamberlain and a maid-of-honor, both in ancient court robe and respectively representing the emperor and empress, proceeded before the presence of the holy of holies and made obeisance on behalf of their majesties.

The ceremony having closed with solemn chords of music, the holy of holies, which is the sacred mirror, was

BRYAN IS AGAINST WILSON'S PLAN FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Says It is a Reversal of National Policy and Menace to Peace and Safety

IN FORMAL STATEMENT

Read "With Sorrow and Concern" President's Speech Before Manhattan Club.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Former Secretary Bryan came out squarely against President Wilson's National defense plan today in a formal statement in which he took issue with the President's views as expressed last night before the Manhattan Club in New York.

"A departure from our traditions, a reversal of our National policy, a menace to our peace and safety and a challenge to the spirit of Christianity, which teaches us to influence others by examples rather than by exciting fear," is Mr. Bryan's view of the National defense plans.

The statement, which reiterates views previously expressed by the former Secretary of State, was regarded as the opening gun in the fight which administration leaders expect in Congress against adoption of the plan. In his statement Mr. Bryan says:

Read Speech With Sorrow.

"I have read the President's speech at New York with sorrow and concern. He is doing what he believes to be his duty and so long as a man follows his conscience and judgment we cannot criticise his motives, but we may be compelled to dissent from his conclusions. I feel it my duty to dissent and as he has given his views with clearness and emphasis, those who differ from him are under a like obligation to express themselves with equal clearness.

"He says that his position is different from that of the private individual in that the individual is free to speak his own thoughts and risk his own opinion, he does not differ from the private citizen except that he speaks under a sense of official responsibility, but where a Nation's fate is involved in a policy every private citizen who loves his country and tries to serve it is conscious of responsibility.

"He has announced a policy which has never before been adopted in this country and never endorsed by any party in the country and he has no way of knowing, until he hears from the people, whether he has correctly interpreted the will of the public. His appeal is not to any part, but, as he says, to men of 'all shades of opinion.'

"A False Philosophy"

"The President says that we should be prepared 'not for agression, but for defense.' That is the ground upon which all preparation for war is made. What nation has ever prepared for war on the theory that it was preparing for aggression? It is only fair to assume that the European rulers who are involved in the present war thought that they were contributing toward the maintenance of peace when they were making elaborate preparations for defense. It is a false philosophy and, being false, it inevitably leads into difficulties. The spirit that makes the individual carry a revolver—and who ever carries a revolver except for defense?—leads him not only to use it on slight provocation but to use language which provokes trouble. 'Speak softly but carry a big stick' is one of the delusive maxims employed by those who put their faith in force. There are two answers to it,—first, the man who speaks softly has not the disposition to carry a club and if a man with a soft voice is persuaded to carry a club his voice changes as soon as he begins to rely upon the club.

"If there is any truth in our religion, a nation must win respect as an individual does, not by carrying arms, but by an upright, honorable course that invites confidence and insures good will. This nation has won its position in the world without resorting to the habit of toting a pistol or carrying a club. Why reverse our policy at this time? The President himself admits that there is no reason for change.

Why Change our Policy?

"If we are not threatened by any nation, if our relations with all nations are friendly, if everybody knows that we're able to defend ourselves is necessary and if there is no fear among us, why is this time chosen to revolutionize our National theories and to exchange our policy for the policy of Europe? Why abandon the hope that we have so long entertained of setting an example to Europe. Why encourage the nations of Europe in the fatal folly by imitating them? Why impose upon the western hemisphere a policy so isastrous? May we not expect all Latin-America to be stimulated to preparation if we enter upon a new era of preparation, and will not such a policy make conflicts between these republics more probable?

"We are now spending more than $250,000,000 a year on preparations—ten times as much as we are spending on agriculture—and I feel sure that the tax payers are not in favor of increasing this sum at this time when a change is not only unnecessary but a menace to our National ideals.

Our Preparedness Increasing

"There has not been a time in 50 years when there was less reason to add to the expenses of the army and navy, for we are not only without an enemy but our preparedness is increasing relatively as other nations exhaust

SPORTS

VIRGINIA-VANDERBILT GAME DRAWS INTEREST

Carolina and Clemson Elevens Meet at Greenville.

A. & M. Plays Galludet at Raleigh —Furman Goes to Davidson and Wake Forest Plays V. M. I. —Many Southern Games.

Atlanta, Nov. 5.—Interest in Southern football tomorrow centers in the Virginia-Vanderbilt game at Charlottesville, although the Alabama-Georgia Tech game, at Atlanta, promises to have more effect on the so-called Southern championship. By their defeat of Yale and brilliant work against Harvard, the Virginians have commanded attention while the Commodores have run rough shod over Southern teams piling up the almost unprecedented total score of 459 points and keeping their goal line unmarred.

Many observers are withholding predictions on the outcome of the Charlottesville contest because of the absence of comparative showings of the two teams.

The Alabama-Georgia Tech game is expected to be a more or less spectacular affair with plenty of kicking and forward passing.

Vandergraaf, of Alabama, is generally conceded to be the best kicker in the South. Last Saturday against Sewanee one of his punts netted 82 yards. He also kicked three field goals, making his total for the season 11.

Tech has shown itself proficient in forward passing with Spence held in reserve for a try for goal within the forty yard line if needed. The team will be minus Talley Johnston, who has acted as running mate for Fielder in carrying the ball. He suffered a wrenched knee in the North Carolina game last week.

Georgia meets Florida at Jacksonville. The Red and Black last week was defeated by Auburn by two touchdowns, while earlier in the season Florida lost to the same team by one touchdown.

North Carolina and Clemson meet at Greenville, S. C. This contest is being watched for comparison of various teams which are yet to meet. Clemson won from Tennessee by a field goal and lost to Auburn by two downs, while North Carolina last week lost to Georgia Tech.

The Tennessee-South Carolina contest, scheduled at Knoxville, was cancelled early in the week at the request of Tennessee. Cumberland University, of Lebanon, Tenn., has been substituted for Tennessee and the game will be played at Columbia.

Sewanee who last week was defeated by Alabama for the first time in 12 years will play the University of Texas at Houston. The Longhorns are reported to have a fast, heavy team but two weeks ago were downed by Oklahoma in a close game.

Auburn is expected to have an easy game in the Mercer contest at Auburn, while Washington and Lee plays Roanoke College at Lexington, Va. Mississippi meets Mississippi A. & M. at Tupelo, Miss., and the North Carolina Aggies play Galludet at Raleigh.

Other games include Louisiana State vs. Arkansas, at Shreveport; Davidson vs. Furman, at Davidson, N. C.; Richmond vs. Randolph Macon, at Richmond; Southwestern Louisiana vs. St. Charles at LaFayette, La.; Louisville vs. Kentucky State, at Louisville; V. M. I. vs. Wake Forest, at Lexington, Va., V. P. I. vs. King at Blacksburg, Va.; William and Mary vs. Hampden Sydney, at Newport News, Va.; Transylvania vs. Chattanooga at Chattanooga.

ALL VIRGINIA INTERESTED

Record Crowd Expected to See Game With Vanderbilt Today.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 5.—All Virginia is interested over the annual football game here tomorrow between Virginia and Vanderbilt. The largest crowd that ever witnessed a gridiron struggle on Lambeth field is assured. Nearly every seat in the new stadium has been sold. Among the spectators will be Senator-elect Oscar Underwood, a loyal Virginia alumnus; Representatives Swager Shirley, of Kentucky; A. J. Montague, of Virginia; Whetford Cole, president of the Louisville & Nashville railway, and chairman of the board of trustees of Vanderbilt University, and A. H. Smith, vice president of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad.

MANY CAROLINA FOOTBALL MEN HAVE SUSTAINED INJURIES

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 4.—Rank criticism of the Carolina football team has been sown broadcast throughout the South for the last two or three weeks. People have found trouble in understanding how a team can fail to deliver the goods, with an expensive coaching system, like Carolina's, at a school where there is no dearth of football material.

It is true that the season thus far has been an unsuccessful one from the standpoint of winning games, but a number of facts must be considered which have contributed to this. The most important of all is the large number of injuries sustained.

The disproportionately large number of injuries would seem to indicate a defective training system which has not toughened the men up. At any rate, Carolina has not confronted an opponent this season with all of her fighting force in action. The team that will play Virginia will be a different team from the one that has played the early games of the season.

WAKE FOREST AND V. M. I. IN FOOTBALL BATTLE TODAY

Wake Forest, N .C., Nov. 5.—The Wake Forest football squad, 23 strong, accompanied by Coach Smith and Manager Wright, left early this morning for Lexington, Va., where they meet the Virginia Military Institute eleven tomorrow afternoon.

The Baptists figure that they have an even chance for the victory; they encounter a worthy foe in the cadets, however, and a close score is looked for. The Virginians have a good record for this season. They have had several of their best men out of the game lately, but they have recovered now, and their strongest team will face the Wake Forest aggregation.

PRINCETON'S ELEVEN PLAYS HARVARD TODAY

Is Overshadowing Contest on Eastern Gridirons.

Yale is to Face Brown University—Army Will Play Notre Dame While Navy Faces Bucknell — Other Games Scheduled Today.

New York, Nov. 7.—Although there are a number of football games of more than ordinary interest scheduled for eastern gridirons tomorrow, the annual contest between Princeton and Harvard overshadows all others. Dartmouth and Pennsylvania will meet in Boston; Brown will invade New Haven for a game with Yale; Notre Dame will be the Army's opponent at West Point; Bucknell will play the Navy; Washington and Jefferson faces Pittsburgh and Cornell tackles Michigan at Ann Arbor.

These games will reduce the number of eastern championship claimants. The defeat of Harvard by Princeton would leave the Tigers on a par with Cornell and Colgate, while a Crimson triumph over the Tigers would bring the Nassau eleven to the plane of Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and other strong teams which have suffered one or more set backs this season. The same applies to Washington and Jefferson and Pittsburgh contest, neither of which has been defeated and who include victories over big institution teams.

The battle between Harvard and Princeton promises to be one of the most spectacular struggles of the season. The Orange and Black is expected to prove a far stronger opponent than a year ago when the Cambridge clan won easily by a score of 20 to 0.

Harvard's early games have shown that the team is not as formidable as last year, while Princeton's forge to the front has been uninterrupted to date.

The edge in playing form and all around strength appears to be with the Tigers for the combination developed team and individual power both on attack and defense early in the season. With Harvard the situation has been the reverse. Coach Haughton has not had the wealth of material he did a year ago and the eleven has been slow to find itself.

Harvard, however, will face Princeton with a combination containing the elements of a formidable attack and defense. Individually and collectively the Crimson team is one of great possibilities.

At no time this fall has Harvard developed the smoothness and co-operation of attack and defense that was so marked in the work of the 1914 combination.

In facing the Princeton team of this year Harvard is going against a much stronger eleven than was the case 12 months ago. Under the coaching of Rush, the Tigers have developed into a remarkably well trained combination from a physical standpoint, in addition to being well versed in the technique and strategy of football in all its phases.

Princeton has uncovered a defense when occasion demanded which was almost impregnable and an offense sufficiently strong to penetrate her opponents' line. It is doubtful if the attack is as powerful and piercing as Harvard's but this defect appears to be offset by a better defense.

The Tigers' chief point of weakness this season has been slow play by the ends and unless there is a decided improvement there, the sprinting and dodging ability of Captain Mahan may more than overcome the superior punting of Driggs. The Harvard leader is one of the most dangerous broken field runners in the east. In field goal kicking Mahan and Tibbott appear to be about evenly matched.

Chief interest in the Yale-Brown game will center in the showing made by the Blue after a week of coaching under Shevlin. The Providence team is a hard playing combination and should give the eleventh hour shift at New Haven ample opportunity to demonstrate its effectiveness.

The battle between Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson should be a thriller and the winner will be able to claim a place in the gridiron sun of 1915, for their records during the past two years have been remarkable in view of the small number of students available for the teams.

The Pennsylvania-Dartmouth game should develop a hard-fought and interesting struggle. The teams appear to be evenly matched.

Notre Dame will be represented at West Point by an eleven on a par with those which she has sent to face the Cadets during the past two years. Except for the 20 to 19 defeat at the hands of Nebraska, her slate is clean.

Bucknell, who faces the Navy, does not appear to bear formidably, having won only one game out of seven to date.

Other important games in the east include Williams at Wesleyan; Amherst at Springfield T. S.; Carlisle at Holy Cross; Swarthmore at LaFayette; Mount Union at Syracuse; Tufts at Trinity.

Western gridiron contests include: Cornell at Michigan, Missouri at Northwestern, Indiana at Ohio State, Iowa at Purdue, Haskell Indians at Chicago, Maryuette at Michigan Aggies, Nebraska Wesleyan at Nebraska, Washburn at Oklahoma, Western Reserve at Oberlin, Carnegie at Case, Ohio Wesleyan at Cincinnati, Kentucky at Louisville, Winona at Rose Poly.

THOR OLSON LOSES TO HANSON

Visiting Wrestler Disputed Validity of Second Fall—Local Fans Liked Match Last Night

Fritz Hanson, local welterweight, won from Thor Olson, of Pomeroy, O., International middleweight champion, last night in one of the best matches ever seen in this city, the local man taking two straight falls, though Olson disputed the second one. Hanson secured both falls with the head scissors and hammer lock, the first in one hour and 24 minutes and the second in six minutes.

In the second fall Olson's feet were off the platform, and though he himself signalled with his hand that he forfeited the fall, he was inclined to dispute that it was a fall after the referee had awarded it to Hanson. And while many of the fans seemed to agree with him, there can be little doubt that it was a fall, for under the Rich K. Fox rules for catch as catch can wrestling, under which it was announced that the match was to be held, a fall occurs when two shoulders touch the floor at the same time. The exact wording of the rule is: "Two shoulders touching the floor at the same time to constitute a fall." Such falls have been allowed here before, for it was under exactly similar conditions that Bobbie Mainfort downed Hanson in one fall on the occasion of their recent match here. Hanson's feet at that time were off the mat and entangled in the ropes around the ringside.

Despite the controversy—which after all is no controversy, for under the catch as catch can rules the referee's decision is final—few of the fans would go on record as opposing the statement that the match was one of the best, if not the best ever seen here. Olson, who weighed in at 159 pounds, is a splendid wrestler, and during the long hour and 24 minutes of the first fall, he did some beautiful work in breaking Hanson's dangerous hammer lock, in addition to getting the local man into some exceedingly tight places at times. Hanson weighed in at 153, six pounds lighter than his opponent.

During the intermission between the two falls Joe Miller, a Wisconsin wrestler, who weighs around 166 pounds, challenged Hanson for a match, and if terms can be agreed upon the two men wil probably meet in the near future.

"Jimmy" Wade refereed the match list, and it does not seem out of place here to say a word in behalf of those who fill this position, which is a thankless one at most. Both Wade and "Billie" Tomz, who has acted as referee for the majority of the matches, are clever, clean sportsmen who serve in the capacity of referee out of their liking for clean sport and because there was no one else to take the job. In view of these facts the basic principles of sportsmanship and fair play bespeak for them a gentlemently consideration on the part of the fans, and it is to be hoped that this will be given them at all times in the future.

BEST GAME OF SEASON BETWEEN LOWER-BERTHMEN

Braves Lost Hard Fought Game to Seminoles by Narow Margin.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Dodgers	4	1	.800
Reds	4	1	.800
Seminoles	2	3	.400
Braves	0	5	.000

Results Last Night

Reds 11, Dodgers 29.
Braves 23, Seminoles 24.

In the first game of basketball at the Boys' Brigade armory last night Montgomery's bouncing Dodgers broke the Reds' winning streak and tied the latter for first position in the percentage column. The Dodgers went after the game from start to finish and had things goin their way most of the time. The Reds suffered badly from the loss of Bornemann, their center, but aside from this they could not cage the ball in their usual style. K. Jewell, a new man in Friday night company, played a hard game, but his opponent, Ruark, was too swift for him and slipped around him with six field goals for the Dodgers. Cameron, for the Dodgers, although guarded by Charles Davis, one of the closest guards in the league, played his usual consistent game, with three goals to his credit. E. Register secured two goals, and was in the game always with pretty pass work. For the Reds, Clarence Davis was held to one goal by Montgomery, who caked the ball once himself. And Smith was held to the same score—one goal—by H. Gerdes. Gallagher guarded in his regular style, allowing Register two goals and making two himself. The Reds fought hard, but could not stop the rush of the Dodgers, with the result that these two quintets are now tied for top position.

The second game was probably the best of the season. The Seminoles and the Braves, who hold the two lower berths went after the game with the same never-die spirit that has characterized their playing al the series. It was anybody's game until the whistle blew at the end, when the score showed Sholar's Seminoles victors by the narow margin of two points. The Braves had the game in their favor time and again, and actually scored more points than the Seminoles, but two goals thrown by them could not count because of fouls committed before they were made. Snakenburg's team seems to have a "hoodoo," but if they continue their present pace, they can hardly help from taking somebody's scalp next week.

Captain Snakenburg and Mac Grimth for the Braves made several difficult and beautiful shots last night that brought hearty applause from the rooters of both teams. All of the other men got in the scoring for the Braves, Gerdes, C., securing two goals, and Ellis and Kure one each. For the Seminoles, Ernest Irving was in the game for the first time this season, and "Scope" made his debut in great style. H. Register secured three goals and was in the game, as always, with his heady pass work and team play. Hanson played his prettiest game of the season, holding Ellis to one goal and getting one himself. Mr. Cartney and Captain Sholar seemed to be everywhere all the time, playing a fast, hard game all over the floor. The former got in some good team work, and secured one goal, while the latter dropped the ball in the basket four times, a couple of his shots being of the long turning variety which evoke admiration from all the spectators.

Public School Is Boycotted in Wake

ALL BUT CHILDREN OF OBJECTIONABLE FAMILY QUIT AND NOBODY WILL BOARD THE TEACHERS.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—A stout hearted man school teacher is badly wanted by County Superintendent of Schools D. F. Giles, of Wake county, to deal with a boycott of the House Creek school No. 2, where two lady teachers, Misses Williams and Stephens, had to give up teaching today.

Four children of J. R. Medlin, well-to-do farmers, are charged by neighborhood gossip to have a taint of negro blood. A jury has said otherwise and the Supreme Court has sustained the finding. But the neighbors are relentless and nearly all the children except the Medlins have quit the school and the two lady teachers were given to understand that they could not live with any of the families in the neighborhood except the Medlins if they persisted in teaching the Medlin children.

A subscription school is to be organized so the children cannot be forced to attend the school with the Medlins through the compulsory school attendance law.

Under the Supreme Court ruling the county board will be obliged to maintain the school with the Medlins as patrons and possibly the only attendants and the board determined at a meeting today to do this.

N. C. DRAINAGE CONVENTION

To Be Held in Belhaven, Beaufort County, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1—Of Great Importance.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 5—"There will be held at Belhaven, Beaufort county, North Carolina, on November 30 and December 1, 1915, one of the most important conventions that have been held in the State during the past year," says Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, secretary, in a press notice just issued calling attention to the eighth annual Drainage Convention which will be held under the auspices of the North Carolina Drainage Association and the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey. Continuing, Dr. Pratt says:

"More progress has probably been made in drainage work throughout the swamp and overflowed areas of North Carolina during the past year than in any year since the passage of the North Carolina drainage law. Questions of very great importance in connection with the drainage work of the State will be taken up and discussed at this convention. Those attending this meeting will have an opportunity to visit the Lake Matamuskeet drainage district, which is not only the largest drainage project in the State but is also the most unique drainage proposition which has been undertaken in the South. This work is nearing completion and the delegates will have a splendid opportunity to see what drainage can accomplish in reclaiming swamp areas and making more productive lands already under cultivation. Delegates will be in attendance from nearly all the counties in Eastern North Carolina and very many of the Piedmont counties where the people are interested in the reclamation of overflowed lands.

"All citizens interested in the reclamation of these swamp and overflowed areas, whether from the standpoint of health or of increasing their value as agricultural lands, are cordially invited to attend and take part in the proceedings."

SECRETARY LANE IS TO ARRIVE EARLY MONDAY

Speak at Breakfast in Raleigh to Waterway Delegates

Potato Exchange Pays—New Plan Inaugurated For Public School Teachers' Meetings—Highway Robbery

(Special Star Correspondence).

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—It developes that Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane will arrive in the city Monday with the 200 or more delegates who will be on their way to the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association at Savannah, Mr. Lane coming to Raleigh to deliver one of the principal addresses in connection with the annual meeting of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association. This will make it possible for Secretary Lane to be one of the honor guests for the breakfast that is to be served to the waterways delegates at Yarborough Hotel Monday morning.

The visitors are to be welcomed by Governor Craig and Mayor James I. Johnson. Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels will be here and will make a few remarks and also Secretary Lane will speak, these to be responded to by numbers of the delegates. Following the breakfast there is to be an automobile ride over the city.

In speaking of the development of the Carolina Potato Exchange, which has come to be a most important and effective factor in marketing the Irish and sweet potato crops in some sections of Eastern Carolina, Director W. R. Camp, of the markets division of the State Department of Agriculture, said that the section of the State that is the real nucleus of this organization is a strip of land in Currituck county three miles by twenty miles that produces annually one hundred barrels or more each of Irish and sweet potatoes. He says this specialized production concentrated in such small area tends to greatly aid in securing the best cooperation among the growers. It is generally conceded that the exchange has increased the price of potatoes at least 50 cents per barrel, this being in many instances enjoyed by non-members as well as members.

Director Camp says that in addition to looking after the grading of the potatoes so as to maintain a high standard for the North Carolina potatoes on the markets, the central office at Elizabeth City keeps in touch with all the best markets and potatoes are distributed according to wires received each day, the manager and not the growers determine the destination of the various shipments. It is in this way that members are prevented from spoiling each other's markets. At the same time the commission houses are protected from any member overloading his market and making it impossible for him to secure good returns.

Smaller Teachers' Meetings.

State Supervisor of Rural Schools L. C. Brogden is just back from Granville county where he assisted in holding the first series of monthly teachers' meetings under a new system that it is expected will be adopted this year by a half dozen counties and be rapidly put in operation by counties throughout the State. Instead of the old system of having the teachers from all over the county to come to the county seat once per month for two hour sessions, the plan is to divide the teachers into groups of fifteen to twenty teachers, these to meet at some central school in the group and spend the entire day in round table study of best methods of school room work, with actual demonstration with the school in session for a portion of the time.

Highway Robbery.

The police are investigating a highway robbery that occurred last night south of the city when Lewis Crawford, who is interesting in a cattle farm near the city, claims that he was enticed into the woods on the plea that there was a sick man who needed help and was then set upon by two negroes who got away with $68 that he had. Crawford's clothes were badly torn and he bore other evidences of rough treatment. As yet no trace of the highwaymen has been found.

Charters were issued today for two new corporations as follows:

The W. R. Bonsal Co., of Hamlet, capital $200,000 authorized and $100,000 subscribed by W. R. Bosnal, O. L. Cloud and S. O. Bennerfeld for contracting and engineering and developing mines of various kinds.

The National Playground Supply Co., of Durham, capital $100,000 and $300 subscribed as minimum capital, by E. B. Byrd, J. S. Jones and S. C. Chambers for the manufacture of all kinds of equipment for public play grounds.

Services at St. Matthew's.

The regular services at St. Matthw's Lutheran church will be conducted tomorrow by Rev. O. D. W. Rickert in the absence of the pastor, Rev. G. W. McClanahan, who is ill at the James Walker Memorial Hospital.

THEATRICAL

Another new show went on at the popular Victoria theatre yesterday and it was a hummer. "Polly of the Follies" is the title and it is a scream for laughs and a whirl for tuneful melodies and dancing girlies. The LeLoss Masqueraders, the company offering this fine show, is certainly making a big hit and those who have not dropped in at the Victoria this week should not miss the last chance which will be presented in three performances today. Those who have already enjoyed the show will undoubtedly go again today, because they know what a fine thing it is.

"Polly of the Follies" sounds comical, doesn't it? Well, it is just as light, fancy and funny as it sounds, and you want to see it. It is chock full of the brightest kind of musical numbers, while the dancers are clever and comedians will make you roar from start to finish. Of course, the Southern Comedy Four, is a big feature and this act is one of the best that has ever been behind the footlights in Wilmington. It is the acme of quartette singing and if you like this class of entertainment—everybody does—why be certain to hear the Southern Comedy Four.

The company will close its engagement with three performances today—matinee this afternoon and two performances tonight. The matinee should appeal especially to the ladies and children. If you want the children to enjoy themselves why take them to the Victoria this afternoon. The same tiny prices are holding forth afternoon and night.

Next week the Victoria has another great offering for the folks of Wilmington.

"After the Ball" at Royal.

The Photodrama Company today presents at the Royal a drama that is destined to live long in the memory of everyone who is fortunate enough to witness it. It's one of those features which do not come often, but when they do, you may rest assured that the Royal will grab them up and tell you about it.

Therefore, in presenting "After the Herbert Kelcy and Effie Shannon Starring in "After the Ball," Royal Today.

Ball" today, the management wants to impress upon everyone the fact that this is a drama that every patron of the theatre should see. It's one of the best, and therefore it is desired that all Royal patrons see it. "After the Ball" is a superb six-act modern drama, adapted from the famous and heart-touching song of the same name by Charles K. Harris. Featured in this exquisite photoplay are Herbert Kelcy and Effie Shannon, than whom no two could better portray the human roles which they are called upon to enact. The story is known to every man, woman and child, and it takes six massive reels to tell it as it is presented in pictures. It will live long in your memory, and will be the means of making you feel that you have seen one of the real big dramas of the year. There's thrills, too—witness the death-defying leap of Barney McPhee from High Bridge across Harlem river to the water 136 feet below, leaving a fast moving train to take the jump. The daring motorcycle cop leaping from his machine to the mile-a-minute express—and others.

Don't miss this great feature today. It's the earnest wish of the management that all their regular patrons not miss it.

"The Smart Set."

The Smart Set Company will be the next attraction at the Academy for one night only on next Wednesday in the new up-to-date musical comedy, "George Washington Bullion Abroad," in three acts. An entire change of situations will be introduced in this year's attraction. As usual the noted colored organization is headed by that adroit and inimitable star, Salem Tutt Whitney, whose progess as dispenser of mirth, needs little introduction to the patrons of this theatre. The play deals with a theme that permits of endless fun, unique features and novelties. As a production it is superior in cast and equipment to any offering seen hereabouts in years. The costuming, scenic investures and other ingredients is understood to eclipse any previous vehicle exploited by this peer of Ethiopian aggregations.

The entire balcony and the left half of the lower floor will be reserved for colored people. Prices will be from 25 cents to $1. Tickets will go on sale Monday morning at Plummer's.

Big Bill at Bijou

It is a bill of many features that is on at the Bijou today. It's hardly possible to tell which is the biggest feature of the lot. First upon the big bill comes that great and much-talked-of feature, "Joe Martin Turns 'Em Loose," the greatest animal comedy ever filmed, in two rip-roaring reels.

"Joe Martin Turns 'Em Loose" was filmed under the personal direction of Paul Buregois, an animal trainer of many years experience both in this country and abroad, and it is positively the mightiest, wildest, screaming wild animal terror film ever produced by the Universal or any other concern since Stanley and Livingston came back from Africa. Oh, it's a wild film! Two reels of it is too short, for when "Joe Martin Turns 'Em Loose" everybody takes to the hills, with tigers, wolves, orange outangs, lions, elephants, punas, camels, panthers, leopards, bears, jaguars and wildcats hot on the trail. It will fill the audience so full of laughing gas and thrills that if they don't float through the ceiling of the theatre it will be because they have tied themselves down. It's simply indescribable, hence you'll just have to see it.

Then comes another great feature, introducing that greatest of all football players, "Brickley of Harvard" in a one-reel feature, full of interest, on "How I Play Football." It will draw packed houses from among the lovers of football, and is an extra high-priced feature.

Then there's the animated weekly that contains the only pictures of the recent world series games that will be shown in Wilmington, many great scenes and plays, with "close-ups" of the two teams. There's a great auto race also in this week's issue.

And still yet—a great Nestor—"A One-Cylinder Courtship," introducing Miss Billie Rhodes and Neal Burns. Great! Well, I should smile!

Dreamy Dud at the Grand Today.

The Grand offers as usual another great show headed by a two-reel Kalem detective story with a thousand thrills, "The Man on Watch." How a band of thieves came within an ace of getting away with a silver service set intended for a United States battleship, is told in Kalem's newest episode of the "Mysteries of the Grand Hotel." The manner in which the culprits are finally captured is shown in the tremendously exciting climax of "The Man on Watch."

In Dreamy Dud, at the "Old Swimming Hole," Essanay comedy, another of Wallace A. Carlson's clever cartoon comedies, Dud has a flirtation with the beautiful mermaid at the bottom of the river until Wag wakes up. Be sure and see this wonderful cartoon. It is Mr. Carlson's greatest effort, that will keep you laughing all through the picture.

"Cocksure Jones the Detective" is a one-reel Selig comedy drama that is also a sure fire for the laughs, Jones' ambition is to become a detective in the wild and wooly West. After securing the position he becomes a past and the ranch boys organize as fake rustlers to frighten Jones. But Jones turns the tables. When the cowboys reach the house, they find that Jennie and Jones have captured a real rustler. And the laugh is on the boys.

NEVER SAW BUSINESS CONDITIONS SO GOOD

Prosperity Everywhere in the West and Middle West

Report Brought by Osborn From Pacific Coast Trip—Business Men Everywhere With Wilson on National Defense.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue W. H. Osborn, who returned last night from the Pacific coast, where he and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo have been inspecting government work, said today that he had never seen business conditions so good as they are throughout the middle and western country.

Colonel Osborn spent several days in Chicago, Omaha, Portland, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles. In company with E. J. Justice, of Greensboro, the commissioner visited the World's Fair, and pronounced it a wonderful piece of work.

He found business men everywhere in thorough accord with President Wilson's foreign policy and he is convinced that the western part of the country will cast a large vote for him in the next Presidential campaign, if the President is a candidate.

Overman to Call on Wilson.

Senator Overman will call on President Wilson early next week to discuss plans for National defense. The junior senator, like many other prominent leaders in Congress, has been asked by the President to come over to the White House and give him the benefit of his ideas on this important question.

Majority Leadar Claude Kitchin also will call next week, when he will definitely decide whether he can support the President's plan.

J. A. Taylor and wife, of Wilmington, and W. E. Breese, Jr., of Brevard, are here. P. R. A.

A Mixture of Tears and Thrills

"A little maiden, climbed an old man's knee,
Begged for a story, 'do Uncle, please,
Why are you single, why live alone,
Have you no babies, have no no home?"

Then follows the old man's story of how he fell in love, late in his life, with the only sweetheart he ever had, Louise, the daughter of his friend. She loved him devotedly but their happiness ceased when he found her in the arms of another. She dared not tell him that the man was her brother, an escaped convict, and he left her, "After the Ball."

"She tried to tell him, tried to explain.
He would not listen, pleadings were vain."

He travels abroad and tries to forget and in the meantime, Louise dies of a broken heart. Fate brings him face to face with the man who has caused him to leave Louise. The man in an effort to save the life of his sister's sweetheart, is shot, and before he dies tells him all which has caused the tragic end of his love affair.

"That's why I'm lonely, no home at all.
I broke her heart, pet, After the Ball."

This country believes in world peace, but so long as at least eight nations of the world believe in aggression, expansion and commercial and trade piracy, we had better believe in peace for ourselves and have a sufficient naval and military equipment to assure it.

A Wilmington woman says her husband is so patient that he can put up with a world war with about as much unconcern as he feels over a funeral in the Fiji Islands. He says he is sorry on account of the war, but he can't help it by worrying himself about it.

President Wilson and former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft are for American preparedness. That is significant, as Representative Pou, of North Carolina, remarked in explaining that he will support President Wilson's plan for adequate preparedness. Mr. Pou, who is chairman of the House committee on rules, conferred with the President on Wednesday.

Former President Mellen, of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, testified in court that his associates in the management of the road called him a nuisance. He also told the court about the crooked things that were pulled off and about the lawlessness of the management. What they would call him now would sound like what a colored farm hand calls his mule when the animal and the darkey become disrespectful towards each other.

The doctors find that worry and distress and hardships cause a large percentage of the breakdowns of men and women. The remedy for it is ease, comfort, nutritious and wholesome food, plenty of joyful company, recreation, joyriding and sleeping porches winter and summer. We believe that is the best remedy possible but most people would have to get hold of a get-rich scheme to get the benefit of the formula.

WILSON SPEAKS FOR THE NATION.

From the purely American standpoint, President Wilson's speech at the Manhattan Club, New York, last Thursday evening, was the greatest of all his addresses. In every word it was American—words for America by an American speaking for the Nation. His voice was the voice of the people, and his patriotic sentiments will be the sentiments of patriotic Americans without regard to their party affiliations.

It is said that President Wilson opened "the administration campaign for its national defense programme," but it is more of an American campaign than it is the administration's. The President delivered a carefully prepared address, and it was not only comprehensive but cogent and inspiring. The President's words were eloquent and profound, for he was speaking on a matter seriously vital to the great American Republic and to all the Americas as well. He spoke to sympathetic, responsive Americans, for that was manifest in the enthusiastic, fervent applause that greeted the President of our Union.

It was a solemn subject for the President to discuss and it was solemn and wise admonition that Americans present gave ear to. An air of patriotism pervaded the presence of that gathering at the Manhattan Club, and the approval it manifested was but the awakening voice that will echo throughout the United States and through all the Americas, where Democratic-Republican principles inspire the people.

Adequate preparedness, the President emphasized in a solemn way, has no aggressive purposes, but the only motive back of it is preparedness of the Nation to defend itself in order to assume "full liberty and self-development." More than that, he declared, "with ourselves in this great matter we associate all the peoples of our own hemisphere," for he went on to say that "we wish not only for the United States, but for them the fullest freedom of independent growth of action." The real meaning of it is that American preparedness assures the defense of the American continents, and that means the best possible defense of our own part of it against all forces from without.

The President was uttering a profound truth when he said this was an all-American plan, and no argument would seem necessary in its behalf, after what we are witnessing in Europe today. Over there we behold nations, too weak to defend themselves, trampled under foot by the armed hosts of mighty powers. The great powers themselves claim they are defending their national lives, as they conceive it, and yet their preparedness is hardly adequate to cope with the destroying forces that are in deadly clash from the Adriatic to the Mediterranean. Even nations guaranteeing the integrity of the smaller ones are hardly able to defend their own. Even in the Orient a huge nation unprepared is being domineered by a power, comparably small in area and population, but mighty in its preparedness to set up its power over all the Orient.

"Within a year," the President said warningly, "we have witnessed what we did not think possible, a great European conflict involving many of the greatest nations of the world. The influences of the great war are everywhere in the air. All Europe is in battle. Force everywhere speaks out and from one end of our own dear country to the other men are asking one another what our own force is, how far we are prepared to maintain ourselves against any interference with our national action or development."

The President called upon "men of all shades of political opinion" to rally to the support of the programme. He said it represented "the best professional and expert opinion of the country" and gave warning that "if men differ with me in this vital matter I shall ask them to make it clear how far and in what way they are interested in making the permanent interests of the country safe against disturbance."

There is no need for the country to feel panic stricken, the President declared, because it now stands in friendly relations with the world. He spoke of the United States as a "nation too big and generous to be exacting, but yet courageous enough to defend its rights," and this is all that adequate preparedness means.

Outlining the defense programme, the President said it included an increase in the standing army, the training within the next three years of 400,000 citizen soldiers to be raised in annual forces of 133,000, and the strengthening of the National Guard. He laid particular emphasis on the need of ample equipment. The President declared that the navy already is "a very great and efficient force" but that in order to bring it to a point of "extraordinary force and efficiency" a definite policy must be adopted.

In addition to speaking on national defense, the President scored "men who love other countries better than America" and men who stir up religious and sectarian antagonism. He declared that such men "should be called to a reckoning."

All that is warning and timely advice enough for American to rally to the President's preparedness programme. There can be no philosophy in a peace ideal—no theory of world peace that can be considered wise—in the presence of such a cataclysmal condition as that which overwhelms Europe. The roar of war, the besom of destructions, appals the optimist and drowns the puny voice of the theorist. Peace theorems presented in all earnestness and eloquency proclaimed are no more to be considered than a voice madly crying out against a howling tempest.

This is no time to theorize, and the President has made it plain that the duty of the hour in America is "safety first" and all the theory you want afterwards. He outlined the plan for a larger army and a greater navy on a programme which appeals to common sense and embodies sane economy, and we do not think the American Nation needs any argument for it in the face of Europe's horrible example. There is before us a terrible object lesson that should be all-sufficient for the wise. The voice of President Wilson is that of the Nation admonishing itself.

ASQUITH UNDER ATTACK

Premier Asquith stood boldly against attack a few days ago and declared that whatever criticism of the government's conduct of the war may be hurled, he stood ready to assume the entire responsibility. He did not shirk any of his own responsibility and while others shared it with him he was willing for all the responsibility to fall upon his own shoulders.

The premier's dispassionate speech a few days ago made a profound impression upon us. It was eminently statesmanlike, and whether he has made mistakes or not—and all men and all statesmen do—it is not believable that England will pay heed to the strong criticism that is visited upon him, not only for a time but all the while. It is kept up continuously and he has to fight enemies within and foes without. He is fighting the battles of Great Britain and in such a crisis division is unbelievable. He does not need criticism in such a gloomy hour, but no doubt he needs the help of the fiery critics who are crying for his downfall.

The press censorship was attacked in a scathing manner by Baron St. David and Lord Willoughby in the House of Lords on Wednesday. The censorship is a bagatelle and the rank discussion was out of place, judged even by the censored reports that appear in American newspapers. The seemingly unreasonable speeches hurled at the premier shows that even in the midst of war free speech yet has unlimited sway in liberal England.

The attacks on the government show how badly in need it is of co-operation instead of detraction, even if it should deserve it. All that ought to come after the war, not while a tremendous conflict is in progress and the difficulties are such that a half a dozen governments are hardly able to cope with them, much less that responsibility should be placed on any one man's shoulders in any one of the belligerent countries.

COTTON GOODS TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA

No wide expansion of the exports of cotton manufactures from the United States to South American countries has resulted from the partial interruption of normal relations with Europe following the outbreak of the war. Trade representatives who have looked into the situation so inform the New York Journal of Commerce.

In a few lines which were formerly supplied by Germany, and to some extent by Belgium, the demands for American goods in South America have shown marked increase, but for the largest part of the business the South American market has been narrower than before the war.

That is disappointing, but it is said that while we talked a great deal about invading South American markets to gobble up Europe's demoralized trade, our manufacturers are willing to make but few concessions to South American customers either in prices or credits, such as the South Americans are accustomed to. The opportunity is there, but the American plan of doing business is in the way.

FROM CHICAGO TO WILMINGTON BY WATER.

It is good news to those interested in the Intra-Coastal Waterway that the barge canal referendum went through with a large majority in the New York election on Tuesday. The majority for it was 175,000, and may go as high as 250,000. Thus the people have authorized the legislature to complete New York State's long barge canal from the Great Lakes to New York City.

The Legislature is now authorized to issue $27,000,000 in bonds to complete the waterway, upon which more than $100,000,000 already has been expended. The canal is nine-tenths completed and it is said the remainder of it can be completed in two years. The unfinished portions lie between the upper Hudson and the Great Lakes, but stretches of that portion already have been completed and are only to be linked up with canalization mainly at two points.

New York's barge canal means that when the Intra-Coastal Waterway is completed along the Atlantic coast, barges loaded in Chicago or Milwaukee or on any of the Great Lakes can come through to Wilmington and even go up the canalized Cape Fear to Fayetteville.

THE THORN ON THE ROSE BUSH

To the Editor of The Star:

Wilmington has certainly improved greatly in appearance in the last few years. I doubt if your own citizens realize what an immense change there has been in the condition of your principal streets and quite a number of the lesser ones, to say nothing of the miles of cement sidewalks. There has also been a great deal of building, especially in your attractive suburbs, and in my opinion Front street as it now is compares very favorably architecturally and otherwise with any city in the States.

Every rose, however, has its thorn, and there is one spot that was formerly Wilmington's show place that has deteriorated very, very much—I refer to Oakdale cemetery. Ten years ago this was the most beautiful "city of the dead" there was. It was infinitely prettier than Hollywood, Magnolia, or Bonaventure, probably considered the best in the South. This, I am sorry to say, is not the case now. It not only has not improved in beauty but has become ordinary. Primarily there is now a lack of neatness and order about the roads and grounds and the signs giving directions, etc., have become illegible and need painting. There has evidently been an attempt to fix the roadways, but the attempt has met but poor success. The most of the roads are covered with rough broken rock which makes it difficult and unpleasant to walk, these rocks are of different colors and the roads are an eyesore to the place. Nothing but one stone, yellow or grey, should be used and a fine top dressing of the same color should be placed on top of the rough rocks.

In walking through the cemetery, especially through the older and naturally prettier part, the grass and weeds were several feet high in numerous places. I do not believe all of this was in private lots whose owners had not kept them clean, but even if it was I think the cemetery company should give them an occasional general cleaning out and not let the beauty of the whole place be marred by them. Certainly in former years Oakdale did not present the appearance that it does today.

Now, Mr. Editor, there is no excuse for this. The cemetery company certainly is as well able to keep up and beautify the grounds as they ever were. With the passing years the natural beauties should improve, and if the place is allowed to deteriorate it is poor management and, if the community stands for it, it is their own fault.

FORMER RESIDENT.

SHIPMAN'S CANDIDACY ENDORSED.

To the Editor of The Star:

The undersigned respectfully present the name of Mr. M. L. Shipman as a candidate to succeed himself as Commissioner of Labor and Printing. He is serving his second term as commissioner and we have heard only the highest praise of the manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the department. Wherever duty called, Mr. Shipman has shown himself equal to the occasion and his actions have brought honor to the State and credit to himself. That he has doubly increased the usefulness of the department is generally admitted. There appears little, if any, sentiment to displace him and we wish merely to advise his friends that he will appreciate their support for re-election. Official duties prevent him from taking the matter up with them at this time.

Mr. Shipman has not only made a capable official during the six and a half years of his incumbency, but he has, also, long been an effective party worker, both as editor and county and district chairman. We appreciate his fighting qualities up here in the mountains and want to see him more adequately rewarded for the splendid service he has rendered the Democratic party and for his constant devotion to duty in the office he now so competently fills. He needs no introduction to the people of North Carolina and we feel that our knowledge of their sense of justice warrants the sincere belief that Commissioner Shipman will be nominated by an overwhelming majority to succeed himself.

We believe it would be a serious mistake, from a business standpoint for the State, to retire Mr. Shipman at a time when he is best fitted to serve the people and hope his numerous friends in various sections of the Commonwealth will see to it that his interests are thoroughly protected.

Very respectfully,
J. SCOOP STYLES,
R. M. OATES,
A. CANNON,
J. MACK RHODES,
J. W. BAILEY,
MICHAEL SCHENCK,
OTIS POWERS,
C. E. BROOKS,
E. W. EWBANK.

P. S.—These endorsements represent the city, county and congressional district organizations of the Democratic party, Mr. Styles, of Asheville, being the district chairman; Mr. Oates, the county chairman; Mr. Brooks, mayor of Hendersonville; Mr. Powers, chief of police; Mr. Cannon, member of the State Board of Agriculture for the tenth district; Mr. E. W. Ewbank is president of the Citizens' National Bank of Hendersonville; Mr. J. Mack Rhodes is cashier of the First Bank and Trust Company of the same city, and Mr. J. W. Bailey holds the position of city ticket and express agent. Mr. Schenck, it is needless to add, is solicitor of the Eighteenth Judicial District.

Hendersonville, N. C., Nov. 4, 1915.

CURRENT COMMENT.

If Raleigh wants the interurban worse than we do we hope Raleigh will get it.—Durham Herald.

The Wilmington Star says: "The Republicans may not have any issues next year, but judging from the signs of the times they don't propose to try a campaign with Bull Moosism as a handicap. The old liners are so full of Republicanism that you can't get Bull Moosism in them any more than you could poke ice cream into a microbe with a pegging awl." Let us hope we will have a straight fight next year between honest Republicanism if there is such a thing, and honest Democracy. The country is tired of the hypocrisy so well typified by the Bull Moosers.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Prospects are said to be splendid for making the Corn and Agricultural Show which will be held in Wilmington November 16-19, inclusive, the largest agricultural fair every held in this section. Nine counties are embraced in the prize list this year and it is expected that a great variety of products will be on exhibition. The show will be held under three large tents, which will give ample space for exhibits and a number of attractive features which will be held during the four days of the show.—Lumberton Robesonian.

It is a pretty safe proposition that when one sees a farm which has been given a name it may be set down as the home of thrift and that the head of that home has no time to fritter away in town talking politics. The idea has demonstration on Sunbeam Farm, in Mecklenburg county, which is owned by Mr. J. E. Denton, and who came to the city yesterday with an assorted lot of farm products, in which was included a quantity of ripe strawberries. This November crop of strawberries on Sunbeam Farm is the equal in size and flavor of the finest berries of the early spring. Mr. Denton is not growing them for the market, but he is showing what can be done in the way of a side line occupation on a Mecklenburg farm.—Charlotte Observer.

PLANT FOOD SHORTAGE IS VEXING PROBLEM

Farmers Urged to Grow Cover Crops This Winter

Attorney General Allows Reduction of Potash and Nitrogen in Mixed Fertilizers in Order to Reduce Cost of Manufacture.

The shortage of plant foods including potash and nitrogen has caused serious concern to both fertilizer manufacturers and to farmers, and one of the big problems now to be solved by agricultural interests is to devise means of securing plant food in other ways. It has been suggested that farmers plant more cover crops this fall and, by turning them under in the spring and using phosphate or other similar materials, meet the deficiency.

The State statutes provide that no complete fertilizer shall be offered for sale in North Carolina which contains less than 12 per cent. of plant food but, on account of the increased cost of potash and nitrogen, Mr. J. G. McCormick, of Wilmington, secretary and treasurer of the Acme Manufacturing Co., and a number of other fertilizer men in the State suggested that permission be given by the State Commissioner of Agriculture allowing the manufacture of a complete fertilizer containing only ten per cent of plant food, provided it has a guaranteed commercial value equal to the 12 per cent. total plant food under normal conditions. Dr. B. W. Kilgore, State chemist, concurred in this recommendation and now Attorney General Bickett has made a ruling permitting this to be done.

A mixed fertilizer containing 10 per cent. of plant food would contain six per cent. of phosphoric acid and four per cent. of ammonia. This will cost $2 less than the fertilizer now containing 12 per cent.

Commissioner Graham, of the State Department of Agriculture, has issued the following order: "By virtue of the ruling of the Attorney General, fertilizers containing four per cent ammonia and six per cent phosphoric acid will be permitted to be sold in this State until further notice."

The opinion of Attorney General Bickett expressed in a letter to Major Graham reads:

"Section 3948 of the Revisal provides that the words 'High grade' shall not appear upon any bag, or other package of any complete fertilizer which contains less than ten per cent available phosphoric acid, 1.65 per cent nitrogen (equivalent to 2 per cent ammonia) and 2 per cent of potash, or a grade or analysis of equal total commercial value. The same provision is made in this section with respect to the use or the word 'standard,' and there is the same permission for the substitution of an analysis of equipal total commercial value. The last part of this section provides that no complete fertilizer, acid phosphate with potash, acid phosphate with nitrogen, or plain acid phosphate shall be offered for sale in this State which contains less than 12 per cent of total plant food.

"When the statute above mentioned was enacted potash was worth 5 cents per pound and ammonia 20 cents per pound. At the present time potash is quoted at 20 cents per pound, but on account of the embargo placed upon it by the German government it cannot be had in large quantities at any price.

"Dr. B. W. Kilgore, the State Chemist, advises me that the total commercial value of a fertilizer containing 6 per cent of phosphoric acid and 4 per cent of ammonia as greater under normal conditions than the standard brand 8 per cent phosphoric acid, 2 per cent ammonia, and 2 per cent potash. He also advises me that a 6-4 fertilizer will give to the farmers better results than an 8-2-2 and will cost $2.00 per ton less.

"In view of all these facts, I think it would be lawful for you to permit the sale of commercial fertilizers with a guaranteed analysis of six per cent phosphoric acid and 4 per cent ammonia. Of course this analysis will have to appear on every bag to the end that a farmer may know exactly what he is getting.

"I base this ruling on two grounds:

"1. I think that the Commissioner of Agriculture is by section 3948 permitted, in the exercise of a sound discretion, to authorize, in lieu of the 12 per cent of total plant food mentioned in the statute, the sale or a fertilizer containing only 10 per cent of total plant food, provided it has a guaranteed analysis of commercial value equal to the 12 per cent total plant food under normal conditions.

"2. At the time the statute was enacted no one could foresee the total potash famine that has come upon the country and the law must be construed with some reference to the actual conditions and necessities of the people. The whole law under consideration was framed to protect and promote the farming interests of the State, and this purpose ought not to be thwarted by slavish adherence which could not have been anticipated at the time of its enactment."

Mr. D. R. Coker, a well known planter and business man of Hartsville, S. C., observes in a letter to the State Farm Demonstration Agent of that state that the price of sulphuric acid has made record advances because of increased demands in the manufacture of explosives, causing a shortage of the supply, and suggests the use of phosphate rock in connection with winter cover crops. There are those well acqoainted with the making of fertilizers who doubt the advisability of using phosphate rock in this manner beiause of its insoluble qualities but all are agreed that in the planting of cover crops by farmers this winter lies the solution to the present problem of securing adequate plant food for next year's crops.

"I understand that sulphuric acid is being used largely in the production of explosives," Mr. Coker writes, "and has advanced in price to between $30 and $40 per ton. Phosphate rock is extremely cheap, but one-half of the weight of acid phosphate is sulphuric acid and judging by the present price of rock and sulphuric acid, I do not presume that acid phosphate can be sold to the farmers next spring at less than $20 per ton, and that probably nothing like the usual supply will be available.

"As you know, we have been using for some years on our own farms rye as a cover crop, planting it in our cotton fields, and also upon the lands where we have grown pea vine hay, and plowing this rye under during the late winter and early spring. In connection with these cover crops we have been using ground phosphate rock at the rate of about 500 pounds per acre as well as small amounts of organic ammoniates.

"I see no reason why ground phosphate rock (known as floats) should not be obtained as cheaply as usual—say at $10 a ton or less — and I believe that if the farmers generally will at once sow upon their lands intended for cotton next year a liberal amount of any of the small grains (rye, oats, barley or wheat), and apply in February or March a broadcast application of .500 to 1,000 pounds of ground phosphate rock they can make satisfactory cotton crops with a very small amount of ammonia applied in the drill before planting.

"The probable high price of acid phosphate is not the only reason to urge the farmers to immediately sow cover crops, for these will preserve and return to the soil considerable amounts of ammonia, and ammoniates are now selling at the highest prices I have ever known. With cotton seed meal at $36 to $40 a ton it would be a crime to use this excellent food stuff under the crop. If first fed to cattle and used in the form of stable manure it will be a different proposition. All other forms of ammonia are extremely high.

"The farmer who does not take thought to the production of his next year's cotton crop right away will probably find himself in a very awkward position next spring, and I hope that the entire farm demonstration force of the state will direct every energy toward informing the farmers of this situation and its most practicable solution. Where farmers have wood lots upon which are growing hardwood trees such as the oak, hickory, etc., they should begin as soon as their crop is gathered to hauling into their fields leaves and surf, which besides supplying much needs humus will furnish considerable amounts of ammonia and potash.

"If the farmers can be kept from going wild over cotton, if they will plan now to raise only a moderate acreage without excessive lost for fertilizer, if they will plant heavily to grain, and arrange for a full acreage of corn. I believe that the wave of prosperity which has just arrived will continue with us for some time. On the other hand, if they lose their heads, run up tremendous bills for fertilizer and plant the bulk of the acreage in cotton, I should not be surprised to see conditions in a few years as bad as they have been at any time recently."

OBSERVE TREE AND BIRD DAY

Wilmington Schools Have Interesting Programmes—Colored Children Join in Celebration.

Wilmington schools observed Arbor and Bird day yesterday, along with the thousands of other schools in the State, in accordance with the recent proclamation of Governor Craig, with appropriate programmes which included the planting of trees in the school yards. The exercises were held in the different school auditoriums at 9 o'clock and at noon the planting of trees took place at the Cornelius Harnett, the William Hooper, the Isaac Bear, and also the colored schools.

The exercises at the Cornelius Harnet school were as follows: Miss Exum's class, A Tree; Miss Carpenter's class, "The Oak;" Miss Hayes' class, "What a Little Bird Said," by Hayes Butler; Arbor Day song, by the class; Miss Pritchard's class, "Which Shall it Be?" by Leon Smith, Louis Sullivan, William Howie and Corada Cook; Miss King's class, "The Leaf Fairies," by the class. The primary grades sang "The Bird's Nest" and the First and Fifth grades carried large flags indicating that they had not had a tardy pupil in four weeks.

The exercises at the Union school were as follows: Third grade, A song, "Which Shall it Be?" Third grade, B, "A Shadow Dance;" Fourth grade, A, "Plant a Tree;" Fourth grade, B, Gesture Play; Fifth grade, A, recitation; Fifth grade, B, song, "What the Little Bird Said;" Sixth grade, A, A Tree Story; Sixth grade, B, The Oak; Seventh grade, A, A Tree; Seventh grade, B, "Let Us Plant a Tree;" Eighth grade A, "Mt. Mitchell;" Eighth grade, B, History of Arbor Day. The entire school sang an Arbor Day song and a Bird song.

At the Hemenway school there were special exercises in each room, appropriate to the day and the season and two trees were to have been planted on the grounds, but the trees did not arrive in time, so that part of the programme had to be postponed.

At the Isaac Bear school the following exercises were carried out: Song, by the school; Reading, "The Origin of Arbor Day," by the school; recitation, by the First grade; reading, "How to Plant Trees," by Samuel Ruark; recitation, by the Third and Fourth grades; song, "Celebrate Arbor Day," by the school; reading, "Famous Trees,' by Ruth Smith, Cecil King and Annie Newberry Kerr; recitation, "Arbor Day," by six girls; song, Anthem For Arbor Day, by the school; recitation, by the Fifth grade. Two trees were planted on the school grounds, one of the trees being named for Mr. J. O. Carr, and the other for Mr. Samuel Bear.

At the William Hooper school, the programme was as follows: 9 o'clock, exercises, talk on trees and their uses and Bird and how to care for them, song, "Robin Red Breast," by the school; quotation, by the Second, Third and Fifth grades; song, "Over the Hills," by the school. Exercises at 12 o'clock, tree planting on the school grounds.

Tree and Arbor Day was also impressively celebrated by the colored people of this city. All three schools assembled on the campus of the Williston Industrial school where a programme, as suggested by the State bulletin was carried out. The songs and recitations pertaining to planting trees and protection of birds were creditably rendered by the children. After the school exercises a short address was made by Supt. John J. Blair, and Rev. Andrew J. Howell and Rev. A. J. Wilson, D. D., of St. Stephen's A. M. E. church. Plans were made for organizing a Civic Improvement League among the colored people. There were more than 1,000 school children present, and many parents, vistors, ministers and interested spectators. Many compliments were paid the principals, teachers and scholars by the different speakers for the creditable manner in which the day was observed.

SUIT AGAINST SENATOR W. B. COOPER STARTED

By Mr. C. C. Covington as Result of Controversy.

No Complaint Filed in Action Brought in Superior Court But Understood to Be for Libel—Both Parties Prominent.

The bringing of a suit, which is understood to be for libel, in Superior Court yesterday by Mr. C. C. Covington against Senator W. B. Cooper, is the latest phase of the differences that have existed between these two men for several years. While the feeling between them has been strained for some time, it reached rather an acute form last spring before the State Board of Education when the matter of appointing a chairman of the New Hanover Board of Education was being discussed, both Mr. Covington and Senator Cooper being present at the meeting.

Both men are prominent business men in Wilmington and are leading members of Grace Methodist church. Their differences were the subject of an investigation before a committee of that church a short while ago, this being held at the instance of Senator Cooper. It is understood that the action started yesterday is based upon a letter which Senator Cooper wrote to Rev. J. D. Bundy, pastor of Grace church, on August 23, 1915, copies of which were sent to members of the board of stewards of that church and also to Mr. Covington, in which one of the statements made by Senator Cooper was to the effect that "he charged Mr. Covington with buncoing him out of $500 cash and deliberately trying to destroy my character because I asked him to return my money, which I never received."

No complaint was filed yesterday and the amount of damages that will be sought by the plaintiff has not been decided, it was stated. The suit was brought by Mr. Covington through his attorneys, Kenan & Stacy and J. O. Carr, Esq., and it is understood that Senator Cooper will be represented by John D. Bellamy & Son and ex-Judge E. K. Bryan.

The reference to the $500 in the letter by Senator Cooper is understood to have been in connection with the payment of this sum of money by Senator Cooper to Mr. Covington about ten years ago for the privilege of handling a brand of flour in this terrtory The sale of the flour did not prove as profitable, according to Senator Cooper's view, as it had been represented by Mr. Covington, it is stated, and after having tried to sell the flour for several years, a demand was made on Mr. Covington, asking for a refund of the money, which, however, was not done.

When Mr. Covington wrote to Senator Cooper a few days ago requesting a retraction and an apology for the statement made as to buncoing him out of $500, the latter refused to give consideration to the request unless Mr. Covington would likewise retract and apologize for the statement made by him at the Raleigh hearing when he called Mr. Cooper an "infamous liar," it is stated.

Mr. Covington went to Baltimore Thursday night on business and Senator Cooper was out of the city last night. No statement has been made by either party to the action, but it is understood that the suit will be brought to trial and that it will be hotly contested.

The statement made by Mr. Covington at the hearing in Raleigh formed the basis for the hearing in Grace church but it is understood that the suit brought in Superior Court by Mr. Covington concerns only that part of the letter in which Mr. Cooper referred to the $500.

Louis Goodman, Esq., secretary of the Wilmington Association of Credit Men, stated yesterday that Mr. Tregoe would be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given at the Orton Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock which will be attended by members of the local credit association and at 8 o'clock he will make an address in the Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Goodman is sending out neatly printed invitations to the business men of the city reading as follows:

WINTER PARK CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The Civic League of Winter Park, one of Wilmington's most attractive suburbs, is actively engaged in many measures for improving the surroundings in that vicinity. There is a large and enthusiastic membership and it is increasing, four new members having been received at the regular meeting which was held yesterday afternoon at the school house.

The ladies of the league are now engaged in a crusade for the removal of unsightly signboards in that community. This was discussed at the meeting yesterday and it was learned that all those, having signboards in the suburb, with but one exception have agreed to remove them provided all join in the movement.

SACRED CANTATA GIVEN LAST NIGHT WAS GREATLY ENJOYED

The sacred cantata, "Esther, the Beautiful Queen," which was given in Memorial Hall of St. Andrew's Presbyterial church night under the auspices of the Westminster Christian Endeavor Society, was a most enjoyable event and the large audience in attendance expressed its appreciation by frequent applause. The choruses were especially good while the solos were well rendered. The costumes were of beautiful design and added materially to the effectiveness of the presentation of this delightful musical composition.

Those taking part in the cantata were trained under the direction of Mr. Bert G. Jones, who has had much experience in this kind of work, and to him is due much credit for the excellence of the presentation.

ROBINSON-CROMARTIE WEDDING AN EVENT OF MUCH INTEREST

Garland, N. C., Nov. 5.—A wedding characterized by beauty of simplicity was solemnized at South River Presbyterian church on the afternoon of October 27 at 4 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Jane Cromartie became the bride of Mr. Charlie Robinson. Rev. E. B. Carr, pastor of the bride, was the officiating minister. The sacred edifice was transformed into a bower beautiful, made so by the rich foliage of the long leaf pine, a fitting background for the bridal setting effected by a pergola of green, beneath which were hung the wedding bells.

Previous to the hour a musical programme was rendered by Miss Bessie Mitchell, of the faculty of Garland High School. When the tones of the wedding march from Lohengrin were heard the bridal party entered in the following order: Messrs. Charles Sloan and Henry Beatty, active ushers, and Dr. R. S. Cromartie and Mr. William Sloan, honorary, advanced down the aisle and took their places at the altar. These were followed by Mr. J. C. Cromartie and Miss Mary Sloan, while down the center aisle came Miss Julia Cromartie, maid of honor. Then came the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. Angus Cromartie, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Anderson, of Anderson, S. C.

The bride wore a semi-princess gown of crepe de chine, hand embroidered, with trimming of pearls, and carried an armful of white crysanthemums. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair by a wreath of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was lovely in pink, carrying pink carnations, while Miss Sloan wore white lace with white carnations.

During the ceremony Miss Mitchell played McDowell's "To a Wild Rose." Mendelssohn's march was used as a recessional.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for Western Carolina, where they will spend several days before going to their home near Charlotte. Mrs. Robinson is a woman of pleasing personality and of great usefulness, and her many friends were loath to see her leave to make her home elsewhere. Her active service in the church made it fitting that she should have the elders of the church as honorary ushers. The groom is a prosperous planter living just two miles from Charlotte. He was accompanied by his brother, Mr. J. L. Robinson, and Mr. C. L. Abernethy, of Charlotte.

ILLITERACY IN THE STATE

Statistics Showing the Percentages in Different Sections.

In Mrs. M. J. Dauer's address to Sorosis at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon, she discussed only white illiteracy and gave many interesting figures and comparisons. North Carolina has over 100 white illiterates per thousand while Massachusetts has only seven white illiterates per thousand, the District of Columbia has six per thousand while other states have even less.

But illiteracy among the negroes is a much more serious problem in all the Southern states. In this respect, North Carolina does not stand as near the bottom as some of the other Southern states but there are over 300 negro illiterates per thousand. Louisiana has over 500 illiterates per thousand.

In North Carolina the per cent. of native born whites who can neither read nor write is 12.3; in the whole South, 7.7; in the whole of the United States, 3.7, ranging from .03 per cent. in four of the northwestern states to 15 per cent. in Louisiana and 15.5 in New Mexico—the only two states that have a higher rate of illiteracy than North Carolina. Within this State the per cent. ranges from 3.2 in New Hanover to 22.4 in Mitchell. The geographical distribution is irregular. Mecklenburg ranks next to New Hanover, Cherokee and Columbus are together near the end of the list, and Hyde and Transylvania come together near the middle. The actual number of native born white illiterates in North Carolina over ten years of age is 131,992. Of these only 7,440 are in the towns. This leaves 124,552 in the country. This makes the town 5 per cent. and the country 13.5 per cent. Of this number 49,710 are white males of voting age. This means that 140 out of every 1,000 white voters in North Carolina cannot read their ballots. The total number of illiterates of both sexes in the State over twenty-one years old, including negroes and foreign born, is 232,226. The total number of illiterates of all ages is 291,497—18.5 per cent. This leaves 61,271 under twenty-one years old.

Judge Daniels during the day in court yesterday made in order confirming the sale of the Buell-Crocker Lumber Co., property, directing that the purchase money be paid over and the property delivered to the purchasers. On account of some unliquidated claims for fire damage, which seems to have priority, it was impossible to order a distribution until these are determined. All claims were referred to A. G. Ricaud, Esq., referee, with directions to report his findings of fact and conclusions of law as to priorities at the next term of court, which convenes on Decembr 6th, when a distribution will be ordered.

PHOSPHATE ROCK CONTRACT

Suit Involving Something Like $19,000 Started in Federal Court.

Complaint has been filed in the Federal Court in this city in a suit started sometime ago and entitled Inter-State Chemical Co., of Charleston, S. S., against John F. McNair, of Laurinburg, N. C. The suit is for the recovery of approximately $19,000 on account of an alleged breach of contract. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant contracted to purchase of the plaintiff 25,000 tons of phosphate rock to be used in his fertilizer works at Laurinburg, said contract to run for three years, and that after taking less than 6,000 tons, refused to take anymore, the plaintiff setting up that the profits from the 19,000 tons not taken were $1 per ton, which amount is asked for. The case will likely come up at a subsequent term of the court in this city.

Messrs. J. O. Carr and W. A. Townes are the attorneys for the plaintiff company and Hon. G. B. Patterson, of Maxton, and J. Gilchrist McCormick, Esq., of Wilmington, will appear for the defendant, who has not yet filed his answer to the complaint.

"Temperatures are above the seasonable overage over large areas and the changes during the last twenty four hours are unimportant.

"The conditions indicate fair weather for this section tonight and Saturday with not much change in temperature."

SAYS HOUSE WAS ROBBED

Chinaman Claims That Thieves Got Money From House in Broad Day.

Reports of burglaries and thieving in general at night have been all too common recently but a robbery in broad daylight with the occupant of the house only a short distance away is rather unusual. But Der Fu Sam, a Chinaman, who came excitedly yesterday to the police station, stated that this happened at his home in the northeastern part of the city. He runs a small truck farm and said he was working in the field near his home and that the robbers came about 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning and carried off $20 in cash and a Colt pistol. Entrance was gained through a window in the rear. An investigation was made by the police but no clues were found as to the identity of the thieves.

Mrs. Charles Wessell, who lives at No. 606 Chestnut street, reported to the police yesterday that some one carried off a lot of cooked food from her kitchen Thursday night. She thinks the thief was locked up in the kitchen when the house was closed for the night and escaped by going out the rear door, the key having been left in the lock of the inside.

Sharp Rally Causes Rise of About $1.50 a Bale—Gain Partly Lost and Close Was 3 to 6 Points Up.

New York, Nov. 5.—There was quite a sharp rally in the cotton market during today's early trading with January selling up to 11.91, but at this advance of about $1.50 per bale from the low level of last Wednesday, the demand seemed to taper off and prices lost part of their gain with January closing at 11.77. The general list closed barely steady at a net advance of 3 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 4 points in sympathy with relatively steady cables and developed considerable firmness during the early trading. There was little Southern selling here which was supposed to be against actual, but offerings of that sort were too small to suggest any real weakness among Southern holders and there was evidently a disposition to take profits on short cotton after the big break earlier in the week, and before the publication of ginning figures expected on Monday. Private predictions that the weather in the South would become less favorable over the week-end, probably tended to increase the covering movement, while there also was considerable Liverpool buying and some trade demand which was said to reflect spinners' calling.

December contracts advanced to 11.77; March to 12.12, and May to 12.26 during the middle of the day, or about 17 to 18 points above last night's closing figures, but at this level support was less in evidence and the market eased off some 14 or 15 points from the best in the late trading under profit-taking by early buyers or a renewal of scattering local pressure. There was nothing in today's news to create any fresh sentiment as to the probable showing of the ginning figures on Monday, but as weather conditions have been favorable ,comparatively full returns are anticipated. Southern spot advices were conflicting, but the absence of hedge selling was quite generally taken here as indicating that Southern holders were not yet willing to follow the decline in futures, and private cables from Liverpool reported a scarcity of contracts.

Futures closed barely steady:

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Market Narrow But Steady and Closed at Small Net Advance

New Orleans, Nov. 5.—While the cotton market was rather narrow today it was steady and prices were held above the level of yesterday's close throughout the session, although late in the day the advance was almost lost, the close being at a net advance of only 1 to 4 points. Late in the session offerings came from holders of long contracts who appeared to desire to even up over Monday's bureau report on ginning.

The market opened at the advance and rose 16 to 18 points in the trading up to the middle of the day in the face of ideal weather over the belt, the lack of any important spot demand and small reports. Much of the demand came from shorts, who either wanted their profits or else wanted to cover against the fear of losses. This buying was influenced by comment on the improved technical position.

Bearish claims were that the good weather over the belt was making cotton, but they did not influence the trading of the day to any appreciable extent.

Cotton closed steady. Closing bids: December 11.49; January 11.66; March 11.90; May 12.06; July 12.17.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged. Sales on the spot 1,145, to arrive 1,025, middling 11.37.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF COTTON

Last Month's Rally Followed by Renewed Weakness, Prices Making New Low Ground.

New York, Nov. 5.—The rally reported in the cotton market toward the en dof last month was followed by renewed weakness and prices have made new low ground for the movement during the week with January contracts selling off to 11.61 or practically $8 per bale under the high level of the season. There was further heavy liquidation during the progress of this decline, which seemed to reflect a more or less general disposition to scale down estimates of foreign requirements and to increase estimates of the probable world's supply. So far as indicated b ythe alk around the ring here, there was no change of sentiment for the domestic mill needs and spindles in this country are believed to be very fully employed, but Manchester advices have been unfavorable and reports that Indian cotton was being used more largely in the manufacture of uniforms naturally suggested a restriction on the export outlet for America. Moreover, it has been urged in bearish circles that the exhaustion of resources abroad is beginning to be more keenly felt and that the most rigid economy is to be expected in the use of all commodities. Meanwhile, estimated of the Indian crop have been increased by several hundred thousand bales, and recent reports from the South gave claim that favorable weather conditions were leading to a decided improvement in top crop prospects.

Reports that private ginning returns showed 7,400,000 bales ginned to October 31, also appeared to strengthen the tendency toward higher crop estimates, although, owing to good weather, relatively large returns for this particular period might not prove irreconcilable with the smaller crop followers, and private crop estimates published have ranged between 10 1-2 to 11,000,000 bales excluding linters.

The market today, however, appeared to be securing rather more support owing to the absence of any important hedge selling and reports that spinners were buying contracts as Southern spot markets had notf ully followed the decline.

METAL SHARES RULED STOCKS

Other Parts of List Showed Irregular or Heavy Trend—Specialties Again Erratic.

New York, Nov. 5.—Metal shares were the chief sustaining influence today's market, other parts of the stock list showing an irregular or heavy trend. The inquiry for coppers were incessant, trading in that group attaining large proportions, with new records for Anaconda, which added a point to its recent rise at 87, Chino 1 1-8 to 55 1-8 and Utah 2 1-8 at 75 7-8. Other coppers, including American Smelting, rose 1 to 3 points.

Specialties, more particularly those in the socalled war classes, were again erratic. Bethlehem Steel fluctuated within a narrow range and closed at 435, a loss of 5 points. United States Steel broke 1 1-4 to 86 1-2 and closed without recovery. Railway shares were under greater pressure, their gains of the early week inducing further realizing sales. Canadian Pacific fell 3 5-8 to 185 and Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central and New Haven yielded 1 to over 2 points.

The session's activity was confined to the first and last hours. In the final dealings, investment stocks showed greatest heaviness.

Sterling exchange was a trifle lower, but assurances respecting New London credits were helpful in imparting a stronger tone later. Bank clearings point to steady expansion of industrial and commercial activity.

International Mercantile Marine 4 1-2 per cent. bonds and certificates were the features of the bond market, advancing on reports of re-organization agreement. Total sales par value aggregated $7,040,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW

Widening of Trade Activity and Increased Industrial Momentum.

New York, Nov. 5.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Two features loom large in this week's reports, the ever-widening activity of trade and the increased momentum attained in many industries. Out of these grow overtime in factory, mill and shop; progressive improvement in industries almost wholly dependent on domestic wants; larger pay rolls; sustained, if not increased, demand upon jobbers and wholesale dealers; more confident future buying, accompanied, however, by urgent calls for goods already ordered and although mild weather has prevented retil goods already ordered and although mild weather has prevented retail trade in the cities from running its full course, much of the slack in this respect has been taken p by increased buying in various country districts.

"Apparently pessimism has ben altogether unseated, activity in the stock market continues, money is plethoric legitimate demand is being supplied at easy rates, collections are freer, railway traffic, east and northwest, is of record proportions, the grain movement from the leading producing states has reached a new high water mark, production of pig iron is the largest in the history of the country, prices for iron and steel continue on an ascending scale and railway buying indicates pressure to get orders booked. Weekly bank clearings $4,482,962,000."

DR. CHARLES E. TAYLOR OF WAKE FOREST DEAD

Was President of the College for Twenty Years.

Was Member of Faculty 45 Years, Lately Professor of Moral Philosophy. Was Father of Mr. Chas. E. Taylor, of Wilmington.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 5.—Dr. Charles E. Taylor, for twenty years president of Wake Forest College, died from heart failure at 1 o'clock this morning, following an illness which came on Thursday afternoon. His death came as a distinct shock to the college community and to the host of Wake Forest men who have been students here during the last 45 years, during which period Dr. Taylor had been a member of the faculty. His death is considered a great loss to Wake Forest College, to the Baptist denomination in the State and to the cause of higher education generally.

At the time of Dr. Taylor's death and for many years he had occupied the chair of moral philosophy. He was succeeded as president of the college ten years ago by Dr. W. L. Poteat. He was 74 years of age.

Dr. Taylor was a native of Virginia. He left college to enter the secret service of the Confederacy, and after the war traveled in Europe. In 1870 he came from Paris to North Carolina as professor of Latin at Wake Forest, being elected president in 1884 and remaining at the head of the institution until succeeded by Dr. Poteat ten years ago. He was beloved by an extensive circle of acquaintances and widely known as an educator and a writer of note.

He leaves only one son, Charles E. Taylor, president of Wilmington Savings & Trust Company, of Wilmington, and daughters as follows: Mrs. J. H. Gorrell, of Wake Forest; Mrs. William D. Duke, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Ethel Crittendon, of Wake Forest; Mrs. E. B. Earnshaw, wife of the bursar of the college, and Misses Mary and Agnes Taylor, who lived with him.

No definite arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is expected to be held Saturday morning or afternoon.

The many friends in Wilmington of Mr. Charles E. Taylor, Jr., were pained to learn of the death of his venerable father and tenderly sympathize with him in his great loss and sore bereavement. A telegram to Mr. Taylor Thursday night conveyed the sad intelligence that his father was in extremis and asked that he come at once. The telegram reached Mr. Taylor just too late for the northbound evening train, so he left at 9 o'clock that night in his automobile, going via Goldsboro, hoping to reach his father's bedside before the end.

throughout the entire country and organized in geographical divisions. Its members, though enlisted for six year terms, would be required to report for intensive training only for short periods each year for three years and during the remaining three years would be furloughed subject to call to the colors in time of war. In addition to officers who may be developed in the course of its operation, Mr. Garrison proposed to draw officers for this force from men who have served in the National Guard or the regular army or who have been trained in private military schools. Individuals or organizations in the existing national guard free to do so would be permitted to come into the citizen army without change of rank.

BACK FROM CHINA

Mr. Eugene Barnett Spending a Few Days at Chapel Hill.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 5.—Mr. Eugene E. Barnett, Carolina's representative in the missionary fields of China, has been on the hill for a few days, and has made some very interesting talks to the students. For five years Mr. Barnett has been stationed at Hangchow, China. He is a graduate of the university, and was general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here in 1908-10. In 1909 he was one of Carolina's representatives in the intercollegiate debate with Pennsylvania.

Mr. Barnett is endeavoring to raise funds for the erection of a $50,000 building in Hangchow to be used in connection with his work there. He has already secured subscriptions for half the sum.

In speaking of China and the student movement there, Mr. Barnett said: "It is wonderful to note the avidity with which the Chinese students assimilate the ideas and customs of the countries to which they go for work in higher education. They take on many of the better elements of our life. The one thing which impresses them most is the Christian home life of America."

MAPPING NEW ROUTE OF THE QUEBEC-MIAMI HIGHWAY

Shorter Route via Rocky Mount Being Piloted by Engineer.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 5.—Under the auspices of the local chamber of commerce the shorter route, and the eventually accepted route, of the Miami-Quebec highway is today being plotted and marked by a representative of the Automobile Association of America. This news will be regarded with general favor over the entire line of the proposed sand clay route between Roanoke Rapids and Smithfield. This new route will cut off more than a score of miles from the present route, and the excellent sand clay roads are in condition the year round.

Mr. J. B. Ramsey, who is chairman of the committee from the local chamber, left Rocky Mount this morning with Mr. John F. Mixer, of New York, an engineer with the Automobile Association of America, the publishers of the automobile tourists guide, "The Blue Book."

themselves. And there never has been a time in our whole history when our duty to the world more imperatively demanded self restraint and the counsels of peace.

"I hope the President will not be deceived by the atmosphere of the Manhattan Club. That is the one place in the United States where the mammon-worshipping portion of the Democratic party meets to exchange compliments—there is no group farther removed from the sentiment of the masses, whether you measure that sentiment by economical, social or religious standards."

Wilson Makes No Answer.

President Wilson's present plan is not to make any answer to Mr. Bryan's criticism. No statement was forthcoming from the White House on the subject tonight but Mr. Bryan's statement was the principal topic of discussion among administration officials here.

FRIGHTENS FORMER LANDLADY AND VISITOR; KILLS HIMSELF

West M. Barnes, 40 Years Old, Commits Suicide in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Nov. 5.—West M. Barnes, whose quarrels with Mrs. Mary V. Garrison, with whom he had been boarding, were aired in court this week, appeared at her home here late today and, according to testimoy at the coroner's inquest, flourished a pistol and frightened Mrs. Garrison and I. W. Stokes, a visitor at her house, into jumping from a second story window.

Mrs. Garrison broke her right ankle. Stokes broke his right arm. Barnes then shot and killed himself.

Barnes left letters, one addressed to his wife at Williamsburg, Va., presumably written before he went to Mrs. Garrison's home. In one of the letters he said he had taken poison and had intended to kill Mrs. Garrison before the poison got in its effect upon him. Barnes was about 40 years old.

ROOSEVELT'S EXERCISE OF BROADENING POWER "UNSAFE"

Former President Taft Speaks on "The Presidency, Its Powers, Etc."

New York, Nov. 4.—Broadening the use of executive power as exercised by former President Theodore Roosevelt was termed "unsafe doctrine" by former President William H. Taft in an address here tonight. He was speaking to the subject, "The Presidency, Its Powers, Duties, Responsibilities and Limitations."

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "in his notes for a possible auto-biography, says in regard to certain acts of his administration, 'I did usurp power, but I did greatly broaden the use of the executive power.' My own judgment is that this is an unsafe doctrine and that it might lead to irremedial injustice to private rights. The mainspring of such a view is that the executive is to play the part of a universal providence and set all things right. The president is not an omnipotent and benevolent prophet."

MEASURE PASSES SENATE

Georgia Prohibition Bill May be Delayed in the House.

Atlanta, Nov. 5.—The Stovall Senate prohibition bill, one of the numerous liquor measures introduced at the extra session of the Georgia Legislature, passed the Senate today by a vote of 38 to 2. Because of wide difference of opinion in the House over so-called drastic and conservative liquor legislation it is believed the measure will not reach a vote in the House for some time at least. This bill is classed as a "drastic measure."

WILL TAKE ON CARGO DESPITE BRITISH ADMIRALTY'S ORDER

American Steamship Ausable, at Galveston, Will Sail For Copenhagen

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 5.—The American steamship Ausable arrived here today from New York to take on a full cargo of cotton seed cake for Copenhagen, despite the fact that the British admiralty recently classed her as an enemy ship. The Ausable formerly was the Dutch steamer Laura. The British admiralty claims she was purchased with German. The present owners, the American Trans-Atlantic Company, deny this.

UNUSUAL REQUEST MADE

That Street Cars Be Stopped for Religious Services.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 4.—Officers of the Carolina Power & Light Co., here, which controls the street railway system of Asheville, have received an urgent petition from the Civic League of Asheville, that the street cars be stopped for certain periods of time, afternoons and evenings, in order that the conductors and motormen may have opportunity to attend the great revival services being conducted there by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman. The officers insist that it would be impossible to comply with this very unusual request.

SAYS MAJORITY OF MEN VOTE WITH BUT LITTLE FORETHOUGHT

Miss Margaret Wilson Proposes Remedy Before Teachers' Meeting.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, told the Wisconsin State Teachers' Convention here today that a majority of voters cast their ballots with "as little forethought as they give to buying a suit," and proposed as a remedy the use of school buildings as meeting places for citizens and as voting booths and the employment of school principals as election clerks."

CALOMEL WHEN BILIOUS? NO! STOP! MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Harmless To Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN LEAVES FOR KIOTA

slowly borne outside the palace to be taken to Kioto, together with the sacred sword and gem.

As the royal cortege left the palace the thunder of saluting guns from the public parks informed the multitudes of the metropolis, and that was the signal for silent prayer for the joyous departure of the emperor for his beatific accession and his safe return to the capital. For all to witness the royal departure was physically impossible. Thousands had arrived along the line of progress last night to await patiently throughout the long hours.

The emperor rode to the railway station in a coach of regal magnificence through lines of picked troops from the household guard.

An extensive celebration of the coronation will begin in Tokio the first part of December, and naval and military reviews will be held as a climax of the coronation period.

iels' office and apparently the noise did not affect the clearness of the voices as heard in New York, or replies to questions came back instantly and with little need for repetitions.

Secretary Daniels was enthusiastic over the success of the test and paid high tribute to the engineers of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, who designed the instruments and arranged the demonstration. He declared it was the greatest scientific achievement for the navy since the development of the aeroplane.

DEVOTE THANKSGIVING SERMONS TO CAUSE OF PREUAREDNESS.

Letters from Clergymen Refer to Biblical Warning on Subject.

(Committee on Preparedness.)

Among the letters from clergymen who have sent to the conference committee on National Preparedness their approval of the suggestion that Thanksgiving sermons be devoted as largely as possible to national preparedness, frequent reference has been made to one Biblical warning: "Whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet and taketh not the warning; if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head."

One such letter is from Rev. George Eaves, of Birmingham, Ala., in which he says: "I am fully awake to the tremendous peril that is looming larger in Europe as affecting this nation and also to the puerility of Bryanism. The blast of the trumpet is in our ears. Our boyhood and young manhood should begin at once a universal education. Just as a boy without muscles and the rough and tumble struggle with his associates is a failure, so must the nation be which neglects a thorough training of its physical resources for the first business of self-protection. What we ought to aim at therefore is a concurrent educational system standardized by Federal authority, and a military training which no boy of normal health can escape.

"This puts it up to the citizens in the only logical way and opens the door also to a citizenship capable of discharging the business of self-government by adequate education. Such an army they have in Switzerland and in France and nothing is more sure than that the armed democracy of Europe would never have started war nor that even France would have passed her children through the fire unto the Moloch of revenge for 1870."

In different parts of the country clergymen have already preached on preparedness as for instance Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn—not because they are men of militaristic tendencies, but because they feel that the great influence of the church can be very properly used in helping to resolve into suitable action the desire of the whole nation that the late history of Belgium and of Poland shall not be duplicated in the pages of American history.
